TASTING NOTES

Intense ruby. Redcurrant, red then black cherry, blackberry, blueberry, in a fresh and ripe register, exchange. A hint of jammy red plum suggests a propensity for epicureanism.

Indian carnation, violets and sage lift the whole, while ink evokes minerality. Cloves, followed by a touch of empyreumatism, testify to the mastery of ageing. Hazelnut, prune and tar, on the other hand, indicate slow but steady progress.

Balance is built on intensity. The acidity tempers the generosity that the alcohol aspires to deliver. The marked tannins, with their chalky grain, confirm the potential of the wine's tempered character. Slowly, carried along by its balance, the finish settles in over time. An assertive, generous, straightforward and complex personality that only time will reveal.
