Weather conditions

2022 was a good year, because the rain came at the start of flowering and then gave way to sunshine until the harvest. Nevertheless, the season was shaken up by the heavy showers that hit the vines in June.

Intense purple. Redcurrant, strawberry, raspberry, red cherry, black cherry, blackberry and blueberry express themselves in an intense, ripe register, while plum and mirabelle plum jam reveal a generous nature. Violet and laurel take flight, and the fragile fragrance of mint appears and disappears almost immediately.

The ferrous character of the minerality is clearly perceptible. The mastery of ageing adds a hint of cloves. The substance is as intense as the colour.

Endlessly, like fine waves on a shore, the acidity stimulates the taste buds. The eloquent alcohol gives structure, as do the fine-grained tannins, reminiscent of chalk. The enveloping texture is reminiscent of silk. The balance, born of intensity, paves the way for a complex, lingering finish.
